

WOMEN'S JUSTICE

Prayers

Deacon in the stock market world by the Rev Rose Marie Martino

Gracious God, hear my prayer as I prepared to enter the workplace. Help me to be a faithful servant this day, responding to each opportunity you send me. Help me to sit among those who see the Almighty dollar is their god, to bring your word to all that use unethical procedures or attempted to do so, and to be a calming presence in an up or down market.

Compassionate God, I pray for those who cannot be kind to their co-workers; help them find the path of kindness. Help especially those who have short tempers and use foul language, that they may reach a higher level of communication. Help me be flexible when the atmosphere begins to sour and to bring it back to serenity.

Empowering God, I thank you for my workplace, for the many opportunities to serve you there, and for calling me to an order of servant hood with my brother, Jesus. Hear my prayer for all your people both here and in the market world and beyond the parameters in which I work. Help this deacon to be a beacon! Amen.
